INDEX

TO THE

FIFTH VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

ANAGRAMS, 21, 45, 67, 92, 115, 116, 140, 164, 188, 212, 236, 261, 285, 308, 332, 357, 381, 404, 476, 524, 549, 573, 596, 621.—Anſwers to, 19, 20, 91, 92, 211, 235, 260, 283, 284, 307, 332, 355, 356, 379, 451, 475, 499, 571, 595, 621.

Anecdote of one George Dade, 17. of a bold Britiſh tar, 18. of M. de Bougainville, ibid. of Dr. Leake, 40. of intrepidity in an old woman, 65. of unrelenting tyranny, 66. of a miſer, 113. of the emperor of Germany, ibid. a political, 125. of the prince of Wales, 152. of Dr. Johnſon and Mr. Garrick, 159. of a miniſter and one of his pariſhioners, 185. of a country gentleman, 186. of a droll blunder made by a French biſhop, 197. relative to a ſleepy congregation, 206. of a ſmart reply of a New Forreſter to a counſellor, 208. of integrity and honour, 209. of Lord Aſhburton, 210. of a clergyman and a ſharper, ibid. of Mrs. Pritchard, 231. relative to the bells in Shaftelbury church, 234. of the emperor of Germany, ibid. of Dr. Samuel Johnſon, 239. of a tavern-keeper, 259. of Aaron Hill, 273. of the emperor of Germany, 280. of a nobleman's chaplain and a countryman, 282. of queen Caroline, 299. of Doctor Seabury, 304. of David Garrick, Eſq; ibid. of George Alexander Steevens, 306. of Mikepher Alphery, 330. of a generous girl of the town in Paris, 351. of a jolly fellow who died of "a ſong from the chair," 370. of a ridiculous attachment to etiquette, 375. of lord Clancarty, 378. of the origin of Dr. Samuel Johnſon's Dictionary of the Engliſh language, 392. of a pick-pocket, 400. of a ſwan and a pike, 402. of a Spaniſh merchant, 402. of the great duke of Marlborough, 449. of Dr. Baſil Kennet, 449. of Garrick and Taſwell, 450. of a perſon in the Cuſtom-houſe, 474. of George Frederic Handel, ibid. of the Earl of Angus, 497. of the death of prince Leopold, 520. of Dr. Flamſtead, 521. of a ſmart reply, 522. of a lazy footman, 544. of a country gentleman, 560. of admiral Hardy, 568. of a Roman who repudiated his wife, 568. of the emperor of Germany, 570. of the head of a college at O——, ibid. of a ſmart reply given to a ſatyriſt, 571. of king William and the princeſs Anne, 594. of an old man who married a young woman, 592.

592. of the famous Rabelais, 617. of a luxurious clergyman, ibid. of king Charles I. 618.
Anecdotes of Dean Swift, 40, 49. of Dr. Robert Levet, 135, 149. of Mrs. Yearsley, 162. of Sir W. Erskine, 209. of Elliott's light horse, 231. of Edward the late lord Digby, 241. of Sujah Ul Dowlah, vizier of Oude, 244. of Mr. St. Leger, 317. of the celebrated Samuel House, 444. characteristic, and observations on men, manners, and things, 577. of prince Leopold, of Brunswick, 594.
Annual bill of diseases and casualties, 89.
Astronomy, dissertation on the advantages and beauties of, by W. Kite, 121.
Ayder Ali, account of an interview between him and his mother, after his defeat at Trincomale, 350.
Avarice, on the dismal effects of, 529.

B.

Badges of honour, brief account of, 313.
Bakers who sell short weight, their punishment in Egypt, 65.
Barrington, trial and ingenious defence of the noted, 361.
Bellamy, Mrs. account of an attempt she made to destroy herself at a period when she was in the greatest extremity of want and wretchedness, 265. abstract of her life, 345.
Blindness, remarkable account of a young gentleman who was cured of it by the celebrated Mr. Cheselden, when nearly 14 years of age, 337.
Bon mots, of Lewis XIV. 137. of Colley Cibber, 401. of lord Montboddo, 445.
Borough elections, queries relating to, 161.
Brain, history of an extraordinary affection of the, 419.
Buchanites, authentic account of the, a new religious sect in the west of Scotland, 169.

C.

Cataract, picturesque view of one at Lauffen, on the Rhine, near Schaffhausen, in Switzerland, 220.
Cattle, on feeding them with potatoes, 160.
Charcoal, on the deleterious effects of the fumes of, 289.
Chatham, lords Holland and, their characters, by Mrs. Bellamy, 374.
Christian II. king of Denmark, surnamed the cruel, singular circumstances in his history, 396.
Coat of arms, curious trial about a, 63.
Columbus, Christopher, original letter of his to the King of Spain, 156.
Conway church, epitaph in, 160.
Cooke, captain, abstract of his last voyage, 12, 35, 57, 85, 109, 131, 179, 204, 227, 251, 276, 295, 319, 339, 365, 392, 411, 437, 493, 512, 564, 588.—Sketch of his life and character, by captain King, 145.
Coquetry, the folly of it exhibited in the history of Ariana, 7.
Cracow, the capital of Poland, some account of, with a character of Casimar the Great, 207.
Crowns of the various potentates in Europe, authentic description of all the, 301.

D.

Dropsical cases, two extraordinary, 64.
Duke of Marlborough, account of the death of the great, and of a remarkable trance experienced by his sister Mrs. Godfrey, 183.
Dunkards, account of a society so called, 217.

E.

Easter Monday, 326.
English theatre, short view of the, 505.
Enigmas, 21, 44, 45, 68, 92, 116, 139, 141, 164, 188, 189, 211, 213, 236, 261, 285, 308, 309, 333, 357, 380, 381, 404, 452, 477, 500, 523, 524, 536, 549, 596.—Answers to, 19, 43, 114, 115, 163, 187, 260, 284, 307, 331, 331, 332, 356, 379, 380, 403, 404, 476, 499, 523, 547, 572, 595.

Equivocal language, on 42.
Ethelred, king of England, history of 323, 371, 388, 415, 441, 469, 484, 508, 536, 561, 584, 610.

F.

Fish, curious method of catching them in China, 352.
Forethought, on, 377.
Fortitude and patience over barbarity and deceit, the triumph of, 153, 175, 198, 222, 246, 268, 291.

G.

Garden, on a, 473.
Gosling, memoirs of Mr. Charles, the British Timon, 61.

H.

Henry V. his character, by Dr. Henry, 521.
Hotel Dieu, in Paris, some account of that hospital, 540.
Human credulity, remarkable instance of, 364.
Hyphonsus, the unfortunate, a real character, 327.

J.

Jocular lies and equivocation, on the use of, by Dr. Percival, 516.
Johnson, Dr. Samuel, sketch of his life and writings, 1, 27. his reflections on the death of his wife, 172.

K.

Knowledge, literature, and taste, in this country, short view of, from the Norman Conquest to the accession of Edward I. 421, 446, 465, 489, 533, 556, 581, 606.

L.

Ladies, rules for them to chuse husbands of agreeable tempers, 593.
Lavinia, a fragment, 368.
Lawyer Brief, speech of, 300.
Leith Hills, description of the prospects from them, 481.
Levee-hunter, history of an unfortunate, 457.
Lord's Prayer, paraphrase on the, as a morning hymn, by Mr. Bourne, 409.

M.

Muller, the famous Russian historian, some account of, 401.

N.

Newton, William, a native genius of Wardlow, in Derbyshire, some account of, by Miss Seward, 353.

O.

Œconomy, maxims of, 545.
Œnanthe Crocata, or hemlock dropwort, Dr. Pulteney's account of their poisonous effects, 80.

P.

Parental cruelty, or the history of two sisters, 53, 75, 103.
Pericles, the history of, 126.
Peter the Wild Boy, account of, who died on Tuesday February 22, 1785, at a farm-house near Berkhampstead, in Hertfordshire, 274.
Petition, extraordinary one, addressed to the queen of Portugal, by the chevalier Brunzi d'Entrecasteax, formerly president of the parliament of Provence, 193.
Poet-laureats, account of, from queen Elizabeth's reign to the present time, 445.
Poor, plan for their relief, and lessening the poor rates, 83.
Providence, on, 281.

Q.

Quakers, copy of their yearly epistle, 614.
Questions, 20, 44, 67, 115, 164, 186, 188, 211, 236, 260, 261, 284, 285, 332, 380, 427, 451, 476, 500, 547, 573, 595, 621.—Answers to, 19, 43, 67, 91, 139, 163, 186, 211, 235, 259, 283, 307, 355, 378, 403, 427, 430, 475, 499, 523, 546, 571, 595, 618, 619, 620.

R.

Rebellion in Russia during the reign of the great Czarina Elizabeth, account of the singular manner in which it was prevented, 460.
Rebusses, 20, 45, 68, 116, 140, 164, 189, 213, 236, 261, 285, 309, 428, 452. 477.—Answers to, 19, 67, 92, 139, 187, 260, 283, 307, 308, 331, 379, 403, 427, 451, 547, 572, 621.

Reflections,

Reflections, 112, 174, 208, 280, 304, 354, 376, 401, 402, 425, 448, 472, 520, 544, 568, 592.
Religion, its influence on the dying Chriſtian, 305.
Remark, an hiſtorical, 17.
Repartee, 2, 66.
Richard III. Dr. Henry's character of him, 497.
Romans, on the magnanimity of the, 433.

S.

Self-love, reflections on, 233.
Smolenſko, deſcription of that city, 137.
Society for conſtitutional information, their third addreſs to the people of Great Britain and Ireland, 97.
Steevens, George Alexander, ſome account of his life, 553.
Sweden, curious particulars relative to the methods of travelling in the high roads there, and alſo ſome account of the country ſeats and language of that kingdom, 255.

T.

Thereſa Paradis, account of Mademoiſelle, of Vienna, the celebrated blind performer on the piano forte, 257.

U.

Unfortunate Elenor, the, 25.
————, on deſpiſing the, 138.

V.

Verſes.—The ſeaſons, 22. on the return of peace, by an half-pay officer, 24. epitaph on one Miles, ibid. ode for the new year, written by William Whitehead, Eſq; poet-laureat, 46. prologue for the benefit of the Humane Society, ſpoken by Mr. Wroughton at Covent-Garden Theatre, on Tueſday December 28, 1784, 47. epigram, written by Dr. Johnſon, on ſeeing the temple of the winds erected by Lord Anſon in the garden of his country ſeat, 48. the newſpaper, 70. Mrs. Chandler's wiſh, 71. memento mori, by Philagathus, of Briſtol, 72. the fair thief, 94. epithalamium on the marriage of Mr. L—th—e and Miſs C——, by Mentor, 95. epitaph on the Rev. Samuel Lowe, M. A. fellow of Baliol College, Oxford, 103. winter, an ode, by Dr. Johnſon, 118. on ſome young ladies expreſſing a ſurprize at what pleaſure there could be in kiſſes, 119. paraphraſe on the third Pſalm, ibid. epitaphs, 120. adjudged report not to be found in the books, by Shafteſburienſis, 142. to friendſhip, 143. epigrams, 144, 168, 264, 288, 312, 408, 550. the dunce at ſchool to his teacher, 144. epitaph on Dr. Johnſon and Mr. Garrick, who lie buried near each other in Weſtminſter Abbey, ibid. Mrs. Sheridan on her brother's violin, 166. the modern ceſtus, or frigid zone, 167. the ſhepherd's life, ibid. upon a certain lord's giving ſeveral thouſand pounds for a houſe, 168. to a young man on his ridiculing marriage, 190. the lady's reſolution, in anſwer to her lover, 191. on the ſign of the Globe at Newton, 192. epitaph on a ſoldier, ibid. Ranger's progreſs, by Ebulus, of Launceſton, 215. a reply to the verſes of Mrs. Sheridan to her brother's lyre, 216. on friendſhip, ibid. eſtimate of human greatneſs, 238. memento mori, 239. ode to ſilence, tranſlated from the Greek of the Rev. G. Huntingford, by Maſter John Browne, of Crewkerne ſchool, at the age of ten years, 239. to Stella, on her giving the author a gold and ſilk net purſe of her own weaving, by the late Dr. Samuel Johnſon, 240. ſonnet, by Mr. Holcroft, ibid. addreſſed to Miſs Hannah More, on a viſit to Mrs. Montague, written by Mrs. Yearſley, the celebrated milk-woman of Cliſton, near Briſtol, 262. ode to peace, tranſlated from the Greek of the Rev. G. J. Huntingford, by Maſter John Browne, 263. Solon's diviſion of the ages of life, 264. a paraphraſe of the fifth chapter of the Song of Solomon, 287. an happy competency, 288. advice to a tradeſman, ibid. elegy on a woman who was found murdered in St. George's Fields, and carried to a neighbouring a neighbouring bone-houſe to be owned, ſuppoſed to be written by Miſs Y——, 310, on Mr. Shenſtone's beautiful retreat, 311. on ſeeing an inſcription in Hampſtead church-yard to the memory of an itinerant linen-draper, 312. the origin of flattery, by Miſs Charlotte Smith, of Bignor Park, Suſſex, 334. on charity, by the Rev. J. Teaſdale, 358. an invocation, 360, epitaph, written by a French poet for his own monument, 360. ſpring, 382. addreſs to pity, 383. Horace, ode X. book II. imitated, by Taſſo, of Briſtol, 406. invocation of deſpair, by M. I. R. of Crewkerne, 407. on freedom, 408. the entertaining and facetious hiſtory of John Gilpin, 429, 453. on a young lady lately buried at Botreaux Caſtle, daughter of J. P——s, Eſq; 456. addreſſed to the Rev. Mr. Cunningham, author of Britannia's Triumph, by William Newton, 480. epigram on Shakſpeare and Voltaire, 482. written by Miſs Anna Seward, in the blank leaves of her own poems, preſented by her to William Newton, 500. May, 504. morning, ibid. Abiran, or the victim of fancied woe, 525, 550. on love, by a conſtant reader, 552. ode for his Majeſty's birth-day, written by the Rev. Mr. T. Warton, poet-laureat, 574. on imagination, 575. to the feathered young ladies, ſuppoſed to be written by earl Nugent, 576. noon, ibid. farewell addreſs intended to have been ſpoken by Mrs. Bellamy at her benefit at Drury-lane Theatre, on Tueſday May 24, 598. a favourite balloon ſong, written by Mr. Pilon, 599. the roſe, 600. epitaph upon the late Samuel Foote, Eſq; ibid. prologue ſpoken by Mr. Davies, at the opening of the New Theatre, in Wincheſter, 622. epitaph written by Dr. Hawkeſworth on his wife, 623.

Villainy and ingratitude, remarkable inſtance of, 425.

Virtue, on the homage paid it, 569.

W.

Walker, Dr. of Dublin, affecting account of his death, 385.

Wincanton, account of an excurſion made in its vicinity, with ſome remarks on that town, 601.

Winds, the nature and effects of the four principal, 185.

Y.

Year, on the cloſe of the, 41.

Young man, Dr. Iſaac Watts's advice to one on his entrance into the world, 73.

Young married women, hints to, 315.

Z.

Zambeccari, count, account of his aerial voyage, March 23, 1785, 329.